THE CITY DEBT .- The President of the late meeting of citizens of Raleigh to consider the question of funding the debt of the city, as will be seen by the notice in another column, has called a second meeting of the citizens for Wednesday night next to have the report of the joint committee from the citizens and from the Board of Aldermen. We have already given the substance of what this report will be, and we hope our people willfturn out in large numbers on the occasion named, in order that there may be a full and free discussion of the question. We deem that it is absolutely essential to the best interests of Raleigh that the floating debt of the city be funded, and the present opportunity to do so should be taken dvantage of by our people.

A HISTORY OF NORTH CARCLINA. The Statesville Landmark learns, from good authority, that our former townsman, Capt. S. A. Ashe, is engaged in writing a history of North Carolina, and that Mr. Kingsbury, learning this fact, has deferred the execution of his own intention in that direction. A worthy descendant of one of the oldest and most illustrious families of the Cape Fear section, Capt. Ashe has for many years made the earlier history of his State a matter of close study and research, and we are satisfied, if he has seriously undertaken the task, that he will perform it in a manner highly creditable to both himself and his section. We copy the above from the Wilmington Evening Review for the purpose of reproducing the compliment to our townsman, Mr. Ashe. We have already corrected the error into which the Landmark was led. This is known as the Bickford patent, of which Samuel G. B. Cook, of Baltimore, is sole owner for the United States. It is proposed to organize in the differ-

We would ask the Tobacco Plant what on earth the claim (as that journal says) of the News to be the leading organ at the Capital to do with the individual expression of an opinion upon what was a mere matter of taste? What might have offended the fastidious eyes of the editor of the Tobacco Plant might have found favor with others less fastidious. And we believe it was the concurrent opinion of the citizens of Raleigh that the performances at the circus were very good. Certainly the writer of the paragraph in question did not offend them by saying so. With regard to the stealing and other misdeeds charged upon the attaches of the circus, we had heard nothing of them, and had not then been enlightened by the exposures of the Tobacco Plant. And it is quite probable that on similar occasions the News will give its opinions freely without fearing to compromise its character for usefulness with its

The fact was, that after taking part in the funeral obsequies of Gen. They had their choice, of course, and their right to act as they saw fit there was no one to dispute; and if they were not satisfied with the honorable po-sition to which as troops they had been assigned, it could not be helped. In the faneral they were allowed to take precedence of the white citizens, but it was not thought proper in the civic procession to accord them this high privilege. JOURNALISTIC.

TAMMANY.

Though the contest with the Tammany influence may have cost the Democratic party thousands of votes in the city of New York, yet the party as a whole will be strengthened for future service by the overthrow of an influence which has controlled the party only for evil. Secret political associations do not accord with the genius of our people, and it is somewhat strange that Tammany should have existed so long. But it was sustained by the whose private character was untainted, and whose talents and public services commanded respect even from their opponents. In those spected, and its decrees were received by its party with unquestioning submission. Of late years its management has fallen into the hands of men who had lost all claim to respect-low politicians, dishonest officials and public plunderers. Tainted as it is, it seemed the height of impudence that it still presumed to dictate to the party. The bitter element rose in rebellion against it. and it has suffered so signal an overthrow that hereafter it must make a very insignificant figure in New York city politics, the Democratic party in the meanwhile somewhat weakened by the struggle, but purified and really strengthened for future service.

THE USURY LAWS.

The law passed at the last session of the Legislature regulating the rates of interest seemed to have met a general demand of all the people of the State except the business men. We acquiesced quietly in the action of the Legislature, determined, since it was a law, to do nothing to embarrass its operations and leaving it to work out its own results.

But the recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. anticipated and predicted at the time of the passage of the act, has brought back the very evils of which they believed the act had relieved them, with the added burden, that while the act is in force tying up the hands of private individuals and private institutions, the National Banks are entirely free to do as they please. This is a discrimination which defeats at a blow the main purposes of the usury law. It leaves the Banks at full liberty to charge their old rates of interest while private individuals and institutions are held to strict accountability to the law, and are at the mercy of informers.

The only remedy (for the decision of the U. S. Court is irrevocable, and the National Banks forever free) is a repeal of the usury law. Will the people endure this injustice for a year longer, or will they demand an immediate call of the Legislature to effect the repeal?

THE New York Times discusse the probable action of the South in the next Congress. The Southern Democrats constitute nearly one-fifth of the House of Representatives, and about one-third of the Democratic majority. The Times therefore thinks that the Southern members will exert a controlling influence on congressional policy. It thinks that upon several questions the Southern members will be very likely to act together, and among them on the financial question. We agree with the Times in this, but do not accept his reasons. It will be from no disregard for the obligations of the National debt that Southern members will join with the West in its demand for monetary relief otherwise than by the remote prospect of a resumption of specie payments. The insinuation that the South would be ready to see National honor and credit sacrificed is of a piece with that sentiment of distrust which seems to pervade the Northern mind, always watching to see the South break out into new rebellion. If we know the South, we believe it is as loyal to the Government (not to the administration) as is the North, and will prove itself as zealous a guardian of the National honor as the North. But the South has yet to learn what connection the protection of the interests of the bond holders has to do with that sub-

The Times also anticipates that Southern members will be clamorous for subsidies to works of internal improvement, prominent among which is the Southern Pacific Railroad. We hope the Times is right, if the claims are pressed really in the interests of the South. It is just that the South should have her profit out of the national domain, and that her cities and ports should be built up by the same fostering case that has done so much for the North. But the Times seems to have a very correct idea of this Southern Pacific scheme, which "is designed to restore the fortunes of the great subsidy king," "Col. Tom Scott." And we call attention to a remark of the Times which confirms our previously expressed views "that this scheme, even if carried out, would have but a very indirect influence upon the interests of the South," showing that Tom Scott is understood even in his own section. Therefore, even if the Times is correct in its opinion that Southern members will be zealous in pressing subsidy schemes, we hope they will beware how they entangle themselves with Tom Scott's affairs.

0 7/ ----THE ELECTIONS OF TUESDAY. There has been more delay than is usual in getting full and definite returns from the large Northern States, and at the present writing the exact result in Pennsylvania and New York is unknown to us. It is however sufficiently certain that there has been a turn in the tide, influence of great names, of men and that the Republicans for the present have apparently regained the position they once held. We say for the present, for we do not believe in the permanancy of a sucdays Tammany was a name to be re- cess which in nearly all the States materially influenced by side issues which will have no weight whatever in the Presidential election. We give due weight to the effect of the financial question, knowing that to be the absorbing one with the money power and to which they bent with herculean strength. But in this campaign it must not be forgotten that in every State almost, questions of local policy were complicated with the general subjects of party discussion, and drew thousands of voters from the Democratic side. The school question, the temperance question, and in New York the opposition to the rule of Tammany over-rode considerations of national policy, and made the contest one for the su-

> All this is very grateful to the administration. All this is very encouraging to the Republican party, but we think both are counting without their host. Exactly what the administration wished has been done in this campaign. Public attention has been diverted from its short-comings and directed to minor things. This has been its policy, to encourage the discussions of trifles, to throw out something to amuse the popular mind while it went on unchecked in its profligate career, or was preparing itself for the investigation into its offences which are premacy of local interests.

sure to come. And these investigations are the key to the position. They are made necessary by a system of extravagance, corruption and abuse of power entirely without a parallel in the history of the country. The people groan under burdens they can no longer bear, but which they must endure as long as the Republican party is in power. If the revenues of the country had been honestly applied the national debt would have long since been reduced to manageable shape. If this debt had been reduced, the immense burden of taxation would long since have been relieved or reduced. If the financial system had been wisely administered there would have been no plethora of money in one section of the country and absolute poverty in all the others. If there had been honesty, or prompt punishment for thieves and defaulters, many millions of dollars would have been saved to be applied to the farther relief of the people. If there had been observance of constitutional limitations, the whole South would have long since been pacified and in a full career of prosperity, adding its share to the national strength, and paying more than its proportion to the tiquidation of tle national debt.

But instead of a reduction of the national debt, we find an increase of four millions for the last fiscal year. The confusion of the finances is confusion worse confounded. Business men are at their wits' end and the administration has never had brain enough to suggest relief except through the remote probability of the resumption of specie payments. So far from honesty, the most flagrant dishonesty has been the rule, and known theires have either been retained in office, or if compelled to resign under the pressure of public opinion, have been rewarded with other places equally open to their dishonest aims. And instead of pacifying the South and encouraging the erection of good and honest governments, the administration has time and again interposed to prevent that, and has forced upon an unwilling and oppressed people the rule of political adventurers whose aim was plunder and whose rewards were party preferment.

And for all these things next your the people will bring the present Administration to judgment.

[From the Philadelphia Presbyterian. From the World's Dispensary Printing Office and Bindery, Buffalo, N. Y., we have received "The People's Common Sense Medical Ad viser, in plain English; or, Medical Simplified." by R. V. Pierce, M. D. Counselor-in-chief of the Board of Physicians and Surgeons at the World's Dispensary. Whoever helps humanity in its struggles with its inherent weakness and diseases, to bear or cure, is its benefactor. Igne rance is not only of itself a cause of disease and mortality, but it is the enemy of every effort to cure or mitigate. Nothing will so speedily remove this cause as knowledge, (an elementary at least) of the disease to which we are heir, as well as those superinduced by our own impru-dence. Dr. Pierce has rendered, in our judgement, a benefactor's service, both to the afflicted and to the pro-fession, in his diagnosis of the disease treated of, and in the presentations of the philosophic principles involved in their cause and removal. He is sparing of remedies, and usually pre-scribes such as are safe in unskilled ands. A a book merely of abstract

WISCONSIN. MADISON, Nov. 4.-The Republicans concede the election of the Democratic State ticket except Governor and a democratic majority in the Legislature.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 4 -- Returns received here indicate the election of the Republican State ticket except Treasurer and Superintendent of Publie Instruction and a republican majority in the Legislature.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.-Special despatches to the Journal and Post and ail says that returns received at Madison, Wis., last night and this morning have decidedly changed the complexion of the election in that State, and created considerable excitement. The Democrats claim that their whole ticket has been elected. Taylor's majority being small, and that of other candidates larger. The Assembly is claimed by both parties. It will undoubtedly be very close. The Republicans claim Ludington's election by about 3,000 majority. Further returns are awaited with much anxiety.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Returns from this State are sufficiently definite to make it certain that Hartranft, Republican, is elected by about 22,000 majority, and Henry W. Rawle, State Treasurer by about the same. In Philadelphia Hartranft's Majority was 17,352; in Alleghany county 5,000, which is a gain of 4,389 republicans, in Philadelphia on the vote of 1874 and in Alleghauy a gain for the Republicans of 7,700. GOVERNOR SEYMOUR'S PROPHESY. Ex Governor Seymour wrote as follows in a letter declining an invitation to attend the Georgia State fair: "In five years from this time the census will show our numbers to be more than 40,000,000. The day, then, is dawning when the lands of the South will be greatly lifted up in value. I have given much time and hought to the agricultural condition of the United States. I have traveled extensively, and I have examined with care into the industral interests of all sections, and I am confident that bereafter the South will get a large and growing share of those who are seeking new homes either from Europe or from the older States of the Union. This flood-tide will bear with it wealth and varied industries. I pray for the day when the South shall be prosperous in all its pursuits, for until it is so there can be no assured pervading welfare in other sections of our Union."
